

AFRICA In Perspective

Most maps show Africa out of true proportion to other countries due to the use of the Mercator Projection when laying out world maps. The Mercator Projection translates the round earth into a single flat image.

This map shows the true scale of Africa with other countries and areas on top of it. As you can see - Africa is larger than China the USA, Western Europe, India, Argentina and the British Isles ~ combined! Africa is however comprised of 53 separate countries.
